Recap of THE's Impact Rankings Framework: Measuring higher education's progress against the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs)

- Research: Supporting the SDGs via the production of research relevant to the UN goals
- Stewardship: As custodians of significant physical and human resources, how universities share and guide them is an important factor
- Outreach: Work universities do with their local, national and international communities is a key way that they can have impact on sustainability
- Teaching: Strong teaching produces highly skilled practitioners able to deliver on the SDGs, and alumni taking forward sustainability into their future careers

The ASEAN University Network (AUN) Secretariat recently held a well-attended online webinar titled "Integrating THE Impact and World University Rankings for Global Excellence, Internationalisation, and Reputation." This informative session, held on October 17, 2024, provided valuable insights for participants interested in improving their university's standing in global rankings.

The External Affairs and Linkages Office under Urdaneta City University joined the said event to gain valuable insights into enhancing the university's global standing. By participating in this event, the office aimed to explore strategies for improving the university's performance in global rankings, identify opportunities for international collaborations, and ultimately strengthen the institution's global reputation. This aligns with the university's commitment to internationalization and its goal of becoming a leading institution in the region and beyond.
